Do you have a need to monitor someone's activities? Are you looking for the best monitoring software in the market? Don't worry, I got your back. StealthGenie and MobiStealth are two of the leading cell phone monitoring software vendors in the market and I will provide you with an overview of both these cell phone monitoring software.

MobiStealth is an old and more known name in the market, while StealthGenie are the new guys that have taken the monitoring software market by surprise. StealthGenie cell phone monitoring software offers its customers some splendid features that even the more established and recognized vendors, like MobiStealth, don't have to offer.

MobiStealth- an outline:

MobiStealth is a conventional, yet more developed, monitoring software designed to run on smartphones based on platforms like Android, BlackBerry, iPhone, Symbian, Samsung and Windows Mobile. It offers you following features to monitor activities of your target;

- View incoming and outgoing messages.
- View the calls made and received by the target.
- Listen to recorded calls through user interface.
- View videos and images of target's cell.
- Track target's location through GPS.
- Record surroundings of your target.
- Get SIM change notifications.
- Remote control facilities through user interface.

MobiStealth cell phone monitoring software offers these features at $39.99 per month, which I must say is way too heavy on anyone's pocket.

On the other hand we have StealthGenie, which has become the number one contender for the top spot in the market.

StealthGenie - your pocket sized private detective:

StealthGenie cell phone monitoring software lets you monitor activities of your targets with most ease. It is furnished with the latest, most unique and one of a kind features.

StealthGenie offers all the features mentioned above and goes one step ahead of MobiStealth by offering these exclusive features;

Trigger Settings:

While using monitoring software, one thing that bothers the most is that we get alerts at every call and every text message, even if it is necessary or not. StealthGenie lets you set trigger words and contacts. This notifies you at only those events in which that contact or word is brought into use. Trust me this saves a lot of time and cell phone battery consumption drops to a minimum.

Interval Based Settings:

With StealthGenie cell phone spy software, we have the power to set intervals for after how much time the information on the target's activities should be uploaded to user interface.

G-talk and BlackBerry messenger:

StealthGenie cell phone monitoring software allows you to monitor activities of your target related with their G-talk and BlackBerry messenger apps. It updates you with all the chats taken or taking place on G-talk and BB messenger.

The crowning jewel of StealthGenie is their economical prices and it's easy to download ability. StealthGenie cell phone monitoring software is ready for grabs at $8.33 per month.

MobiStealth monitoring software is a very good quality spying app but the features they offer have become old fashioned and you can find them with most of the other spying apps. Moreover, the prices they offer are sky high.

For anyone looking to monitor activities of their targets, StealthGenie is my first and foremost suggestion, as you can get all the regular monitoring features along with the elite features at most affordable prices.